Ike-Nixon Team Top-Heavy Choice In BYU, U of U, USAC Student Poll

STUDENT POLLS at the three major Utah schools show an overwhelming preference for re-election of President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard Nixon Tuesday.

In polls and straw voting conducted at the University of Utah and the Utah State Agricultural College, Republican George Dewey Clyde was shown as being favored to win the gubernatorial race and Sen. Wallace F. Bennett is expected to be re-elected to his Senate chair.

Presidential results from these two colleges compared favorably with polls conducted by the Public Opinion Polls class at Brigham Young University and published Monday in the Daily Universe.

WHERE BYU students favored GOP Ike over Democrat Adlai Stevenson to the tune of 81 per cent to 17 per cent, with 2 per cent undecided, 84 per cent of the U of U students voting in a straw ballot favored Ike with 13 per cent going for Stevenson and 3 per cent undecided.

USAC students, 200 of them, had a lower percentage in favor of Pres. Eisenhower, but the consensus was still an overwhelming 79.5 per cent, giving Stevenson 15.5 per cent and 5 per cent undecided.

IN UTAH RACES, U of U and USAC students all favored Clyde (U of U 51 per cent, USAC 65 per cent), but differed on their choices, percentagewise, for Gov. J. Bracken Lee.

USAC students cast 21 per cent of their votes for L. C. Romney as their choice. USAC had 7 only 7 per cent for Independent Gov. Lee, while 39.5 per cent of the Utah students favored Gov. Lee and only 9.5 marked Romney as their choice. USAC has 7 per cent undecided.

Republican Sen. Bennett garnered 77 per cent of the Utah votes and 65.5 per cent of those polled at USAC, compared to the 20 per cent Democrat Alonzo F. Hopkin received at Utah and 23.5 at USAC, with 11 per cent undecided at USAC and 3 per cent not committing themselves at Utah.

Election Day Assembly Features Musical Saga

"Song of America," a patriotic assembly, will be presented Tuesday at 11 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

This Election Day assembly is a musical saga of the founding of the United States. A chorus of 23 members and an orchestra of 35 will be included in the cast.

Lynn McKinlay of the speech department faculty will do the narration. The production is being conducted by Virgil H. Camp, a graduate student from Provo.

Music and narration were written by Roy Ringwald. Lyrics include verses from the works of 20 poets. Some of the poetic works of Bryant, Emerson, Lowell, Whittier, Longfellow, Holmes and Whitman are among those included in the script.

"Battle Hymn of the Republic" by Julia Ward Howe will be the opening number on the program. Howard Putnam, graduate student from Ontario, Ore., will be the soloist. The number is arranged for chorus and orchestra by Ringwald.

The Program Bureau Division of Public Services is sponsoring the assembly.

Job Definitions, Coordination Seen as Weakness by ICE

GROSS INACCURACIES in organizational charts for studentbody government have been spotlighted by the Investigating Commission Executive after two weeks of work.

Lack of defined responsibilities, and coordination and the possibility for the Senate to overrule executive decisions in what are generally considered executive functions, were listed as weak points in the government.

Gil Fairholm, committee member, reported the group received 60 per cent of the reports requested from executive heads in the studentbody government.

HE SAID THAT 80 per cent of these leaders were interviewed and job descriptions prepared on most of those positions.

Members of the committee reposted a "lack of defined responsibilities present in all executive positions interviewed."

Fairholm also cited the relationship between Associated Men and Women Students organizations and the rest of the studentbody government as having "little general coordination."

ALSO MENTIONED in a progress report by the committee last week were the "few definite lines of authority," the little concept of authority and the dual authority exercised over many committees and positions.

Constitutional authority also allows opportunity for deadlock to occur within executive council, the committee said.

The committee, consisting of Dwanye Stevenson and Fairholm, both of Salt Lake City, and Kirk Hart, Boise, Ida., plans to study and evaluate findings of the investigation and to make recommendations later this month, Fairholm said.

Connie Brooks, Detroit, Mich., was chosen by the group as administrative assistant.

Job Application Photos To Be Taken This Week

Seniors may have pictures taken this week for use as job graduate school applications.

Special rate of $1.00 for 50 prints is being offered to all seniors for three days only.

Pictures are taken at the Brigham Young University Photo Studio in room 276 Eyring Science Center. Hours are 9:15 a. m. until 12 noon Tuesday, 10:30 a. m. to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, and 8 a.m. until 5 p. m. Thursday.

Men are asked to wear a coat and tie for their photos.

Women Plan 3 Days of Balloting For Preference Dance Dates

Balloting for Preference Ball dates will be conducted Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, announced Luana Schow, chairman of Preference Ball week.

Voting booths will be in the lobbies of the Smith, McKay, and Science Buildings and will be open from 6:45 a.m., to 4 p.m. Upperclassmen will have precedence only within the hour.

Girls should submit the names and addresses of three choices as dates for the dance. A special place will be provided on the ballot for voting for most preferred man.

Thirteen preferred men will be selected and their names released Nov. 15.

Invitations will be sent to the men by the committee.

Men should call and make dates with coeds whose names will appear on the invitations. Coeds must be contacted by Nov. 14.

No campaigning for "Preferred Man" is allowed by men, Miss Schow said.

Goldbrickers Win Float Sweepstakes

Val Norn won the beauty division, and O. S. Trovata took second prize in this division.

For humorous design, Athenians won first place trophy and Knights Templars placed second.

German Numbers Planned by Group For BYU Concert

PREDOMINANTLY German numbers have been chosen by the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra for its concert at Brigham Young University, Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

Beethoven's "Symphony No. 7 in A Major" and "Overture to Egmont," Smetana's "The Moldau," and Wagner's "Prelude to Die Meistersinger" have been chosen by the orchestra.

HERBERT von Karajan, the conductor, is the fourth permanent conducter since the orchestra was founded in 1882.

The orchestra has also performed under the batons of Brahms, Tchaikowsky, Grieg, and Richard Strauss.

The tour is under the patronage of His Excellency Heinz L. Krekeler, German ambassador to the United States. This is the second American tour and the first transcontinental tour for the group.

Von Karajan was elected by members of the orchestra as their permanent conductor during the first American tour in 1955. This tour was a gesture of gratitude from the City of Berlin for the airlift.

"BERLIN Philharmonic has one aim, to create joy through musical art, and in achieving this aim, the orchestra has contributed to closer international understanding through the universal language of music," the orchestra management declared.

Instructor Star Gazes

DR. D. H. McNAMARA left last week for the Mount Wilson Observatory where he will continue study under a $5,800 grant awarded by the National Science Foundation.

Dr. McNamara is an assistant professor of mathematics and physics at Brigham Young University.

The grant calls for spectrographic study of variations in the speed and route of certain "eclipsing binary stars."

SINCE IT IS believed that certain gaseous streams which swirl around the star are responsible for any deviation of the star's path, spectrographs have to be completed at the Mount Wilson Observatory through both 60 and 100 in. reflectors, the grant awarded BYU a measuring engine to compile and interpret all observations on the spectogarphs.

IF THE STARS are poorly placed for observation, a second project has been outlined for Dr. McNamara. He will attempt to study stars in the B Canis Majoris class.

In this study, Dr. McNamara will obtain several spectrograms in a three or four hour interval to test for a short period of radial velocity variations in the star's movements. The grant calls for ten round trips to the observatory.

Neither investigations have any practical applications, Dr. McNamara said, but are only science for science sake studies.

BYU Victory Couldn't Happen To Better Guys, Scribes Say

by Mark Murphy — Daily Universe Sports Writer

IT COULDN'T have happened to a nicer guy nor a finer bunch of fellas, was the popular concensus of chilled inhabitants of the press box Saturday as Coach Hal Kopp was exhuberantly carried on the shoulders of his exultant gridders after loudly proclaiming victory by ringing the "Y" Bell.

For a man used to winning, it is felt Coach Kopp has handled the poor situation of this season's team with a big heart. Where many would have girded their forces for next year, experimenting and more or less forgetting this year, Coach Kopp appears to have gone all out to make the game enjoyable for his boys and to give them a shot at a win.

UNTIL THEIR blasting of New Mexico's Lobos, who had the misfortune of playing the Cougars at this stage of the campaign, the feeling on and off-campus regarding this year's varsity looked like one of pity—pity for a team that hadn't won a game and a team that, although its future appeared set in defeat, kept fighting for a losing cause. In fact, what optimism fans had regarding BYU football was directed to Coach Max Tolbert's vaunted freshman eleven.

Sixty minutes Saturday of some of the best and most spirited football this writer has seen changed the outlook of "Joe Fan." Wyoming could possibly be beaten by BYU, but Denver and the Air Academy can be taken by the team that passed circles around New Mexico.

Denver barely squeaked by New Mexico by six small points, and the Air Academy, while running up some lopsided scores this year, have been playing mostly small colleges that are not exactly over-burdened with football talent.

Wyoming will be meeting the Cats at Provo, and while the situation looks hopeless, many persons feel the Cougars will put up more of a fight than the Cowboys are probably expecting to get.

Wow . . .

Statistics Give Cats Solid Win

For the first time in 15 games the Brigham Young University football squad finds itself in the win column.

While piling up a decisive 33-12 score, the Cougars did all right for themselves in the statistics area of the game also.

Cold, hard facts tell interesting stories, and the game statistics point out the following:

Korean Track Ace Leads Cougar Win In Liberty Park Cross-Country Race

Led by crack Korean distance man Bok Suk Shim, Brigham Young University swept collegiate honors in the annual Intermountain AAU cross-country run Saturday morning at Liberty Park, Salt Lake City.

The Cougars dominated the meet, taking first, second and third places.

University of Utah and Utah State trailed the Cats in team points.

The results were surprising in that Bruce Johnson of Utah, defending champion, could finish no better than 11th.

Shim finished first with a time of 7:38 for the mile and three quarters course. He was followed by teammates Gary Griffith and Paul Anderson who placed second and third, respectively.

No record was involved inasmuch as the course was shortened this season because of park repairs.

Although the weather was cold and the course covered with patches of snow, there was an entry list of 70.

The results:

Team—BYU 21 points; Universit yof Utah 43; Utah State 47.

That's Rich

THE COUGARS did it, and in a way that left little dou the minds of anyone which was the superior team on the Saturday.

The score of 33-12 looks like almost a walkaway for Brigham Young University club, and the statistics on the g back the score all the way.

IT WAS A GREAT homecoming, and a game a lot of pe have been waiting a long time to see.

Two years without a conference win, the Cats went ou the field determined to sew this one up, and sew it up they from the opening kick-off on.

The New Mexico back that took the opening kick-off prob is still trying to figure out what happened. He took the ball o own 15 yard line, and that is where he found himself when whistle blew. He went forward not at all.

FIVE PLAYS LATER, having gained two yards and b penalized five, the Lobos punted. Nine plays after that the s was 7-0 in favor of a very air-minded Cat squad.

From there on out it was all BYU.

The ball found itself in Cougar territory only twice in first quarter. Once New Mexico punted it there, the second they passed to the BYU side of the field ,only to have the ball tercepted by Cat defenders.

QUARTERBACK Carroll Johnston had another great a noon for himself, throwing the ball 28 times for 18 completions a total of 177 yards. But a great deal of that credit must go t outstanding pass-catching efforts of players like end Ed and halfback Bert Bullock.

Hunt pulled in six areials for 79 yards and one touchd Bullock caught five, one a sensational diving catch in the Mexico end zone.
